What our Relief Moneys are doing in the East

Very ... of the citizens of this State who have contributed of their means to alleviate the sufferings of the gallant men who have been wounded or fallen sick whilst battling for the preservation of the Union have ... the vast amount of human misery which is being averted and pain alleviated ... provided through their ... generous offerings. Our readers have already been informed that some eighty hospitals ... with patients from the battle field ... who have fought, and in ... of them ... in defense of the Union. Our advices from the East ... are to the effect that California's contributions to the Sanitary Fund are not only opportune, but of inestimable value. The loyal States on the Atlantic side have done nobly in responding to the frequent appeals made to them by the Sanitary Commission but owing to the manifold calls for aid in arming and fitting out their own troops in raising bounty money, in providing for their own volunteers to say nothing of the great depression in business, consequent on the withdrawal of such a vast amount of producing labor, they have been unable to render that amount of aid to the General Commission Fund which its extensive field of action necessarily demands

As was remarked above the assistance already rendered by the people of the Pacific States and Territories is of inestimable benefit. It will be remembered that Rev Dr Bellows, in acknowledging the receipt of the first $100,000 from San Francisco said that the gift came most opportunely that almost simultaneous with the receipt of the moneys, they were being expended on the battle field in relieving the needy. In confirmation of this statement we annex the following extract from a private letter received by one of the editors of this journal

"Our New Jersey regiment was in the bloody encounter on Antietam Creek. We were with Burnside at the bridge and, in common with all in that part of the field, suffered terrible loss. I had been previously in the seven days fight before Richmond, and in the battle of Malvern Hills received a wound in the left arm which partially disabled me. The surgeon was prompt and attentive, but few conveniences at hand for bandaging my wound, and as for medicines and change of raiment, neither myself nor the wounded lying all around me, could obtain what was indispensably necessary to our speedy recovery. How different at Sharpsburg! When borne to the rear, and suffering terribly from a wound inflicted by a spent ball in my hand, I found the marquee filled with every necessary and luxury. There were all sorts of comforts provided in abundance. Preserves, can oysters, fresh bread wines and cordials and an abundance of flannel shirts linen, lint, and blankets. I was completely dumbfounded. On inquiry I learned that the Sanitary Commission had but two days previously received $100,000 from California. The mystery was explained, and rest assured, prayers as sincere and fervent as were ever offered went up to Heaven, beseeching blessings on the whole souled, generous, patriotic friends of the Union resident on the Pacific Coast."

Such acknowledgments as this coupled with those from the President of the Sanitary Commission, and others published in Atlantic papers are a sufficient recompense for all that we have done, or can do for our sick and disabled soldiers and sailors engaged in upholding the Union our ancestors established and which their descendants are now struggling to preserve in all its pristine purity.—Alta

NEW YORK ELECTION.—The Albany Evening Journal is decidedly the most dispassionate and reliable Union paper in New York. It gives the principal reason for the defeat of Gen. Wadsworth, which we copy

All this should have been because it might have been averted. Although unquestionably induced by an earnest desire to give emphasis to an important principle the nomination, by the Republican Union Convention, of a gentleman of conceded gallantry, patriotism and personal worth, but of extreme party views, was a fatal error, and none the less fatal because the example had been set by the Democratic party. That example was not relished by all ordinarily in sympathy with that party, and if advantage had been taken of this feeling, and a ticket presented—no more patriotic for that could not be but—less distinctly partizan, the result of last year would have been repeated, with greatly increased emphasis and significance

RAPID MARCHES.—The following are some of the most remarkable cases of rapid marches on military record:

Roman infantry marched frequently a distances of 20 miles in 5 hours, each soldier carrying from 50 to 60 pounds of baggage.—Cæsar's legions marched 450 leagues in 23 days. In 1800 McDonald marched 40 miles in a single day, crossing rivers and climbing mountains. Clava, after most extraordinary efforts at the battle of Salamanca, retreated 40 miles in 12 hours. In 1814, Napoleon marched his army, for the purpose of succoring Paris 75 miles in 36 hours. General Crawford, in Spain, marched 3 000 men 62 miles in 26 hours. In 1802 Wellington s cavalry in India, marched 60 miles in 32 hours. Before the battle of Turruckabad in India, the English cavalry under Lord Lake, are said to have marched 70 miles in 24 hours.

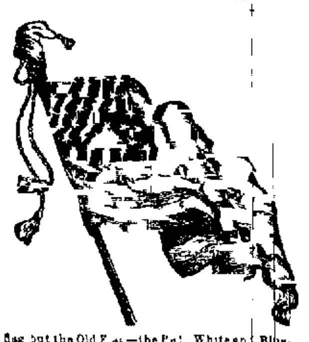
OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY



No flag but the Old Flag—the Red, White and Blue,
With the stars of a Union unbroken and true
Arise and defend it [illegible] of the brave
Whose blood bought the banner your [illegible] must save

FRIDAY MORNING DEC 19 1862

BLUNDERING AT CHAPLIN HILLS.—The Louisville Journal defends the conduct of Gen Buel at the battle of Chaplin Hills or Perryville, as it is usually called That paper says that Gen Buel was five miles from the scene of action, and did not come to the assistance of Rosseau and McCook because he did not know that a battle was coming off until near night Gen Buell says that he thought that the artillery firing was only the ordinary practice in camp Gen T L Crittenden says that, although he was only five miles from the scene of action he did not know that there was a battle fought until ten o clock at night Now the official report of Gen McCook shows that, this defense of Gen. Buell is a flimsy tissue of falsehoods Gen Buell gave the orders to McCook that brought on the engagement on the morning of the 8th of October. At 10 30, A M McCook found the enemy After forming his line of battle, he notified Gen Rosseau commanding on the field, that he was ordered to report in person to Gen Buell This must have been about noon, for there had not been a shot fired from his division at the time He says that he found Gen Buell two miles and a half in the rear and reported to him, and then returned to the field of battle Who will dare say after that, that Gen Buell was ignorant of the battle of Chaplin Hills during its progression? It is by just such lack of combined effort that the Union armies are sacrificed

THE PRESS ON MCCLELLAN'S REMOVAL.—The New York Herald, World, and Express, give very affecting accounts of Gen. McClellan's farewell to his army The soldiers ran after him, crying out, "Come back to us McClellan," "Don't leave us" Others again cursed the authorities, and proposed to disobey the order of removal McClellan, it is said, expected to be recalled in a few days thinking the outside pressure would force a revocation of the order of Mr Lincoln The Times and Evening Post think the scenes on the occasion of his departure from the army, were got up for effect They instance the submission of Gen Fremont, whose removal took place while he was hourly expecting a battle Burnside and McClellan parted friends, as they always have been As the train bore McClellan northward, a strong column of troops passed the train heading southward Was this accident or design?

NEWS FROM MEXICO.—A telegram from San Francisco, of the night of the 9th of December, says

A letter dated Orizaba, November 6th, published in the Echo du Pacifique this morning, says the French army in Mexico is composed of an effective force of 31,000 men, occupying Vera Cruz, Orizaba, Cordova and Jalapa Their artillery consists of 98 siege and field guns, with ample supplies of munitions of war An additional force of 7,000 men is expected daily at Vera Cruz—having been delayed in their arrival at that port by a violent norther With this reinforcement the army will number 38,000 good troops in excellent health The Conservative Mexican General, Leonardo Marquez, with 8,000 men and 22 pieces of artillery, occupies the village of Huatazco, about twenty five miles north east of Jalapa, on the road to Puebla The greatest harmony exists between the French General, Forey, and the Mexican Generals, Marquez and Almonte

Miscellaneous Paragraphs.

The rebel army in Virginia is said, on good authority, to be suffering greatly for want of the commonest necessaries of life

A late Washington dispatch states that Gen Sigel will prefer charges against Gen Pope, for incompetency, and conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman

A writer in the Edinburgh Review estimates the property of Great Britain and Ireland in 1858 at $29,000,000,000, which is about $1,000 to each inhabitant

"Peace," wrote Napoleon, from the heart of Germany, to his brother Joseph who wanted peace, "is a word that means nothing. It is the conditions of peace that is all"

The Seymourites did not elect a majority of either house of the New York Legislature "Fernandy Wud" and John Van Buren will have to defer going to the United States Senate

London Punch says, that while the North and South were united, they might be likened to a pair of scissors that cut all before them Divided, they become two daggers the one turned murderously against the other

George D Prentice says of the female secessionists of Louisville "Some of the rebel girls of our city seem to have a great deal of effrontery We have heard much of virgin gold, but we fear that virgin brass is getting a great deal more common"

NASHVILLE, Dec ?—Gov Johnson has issued a proclamation providing for the election of Representatives for the 9th and 10th Congressional districts

HEADQUARTERS ARMY OF POTOMAC, Dec 11 ? p m—Everything last night was confusion To day was the time fixed for crossing the Rappahannock During the night pontoons were conveyed to the river and artillery placed in front of Fredericksburg At three this morning the construction of three bridges commenced in front of the city and when they were completed the enemy opened a murderous infantry fire from houses on the river bank driving the engineers from the bridges, several were killed and wounded At six o'clock Gen Burnside ordered all guns to open on the city.

The cannonading which has continued to the present time is terrible The city is on fire and its destruction certain At seven o'clock the enemy opened with their heavy guns from their works, but no serious damage has been done yet Gen Franklin's division crossed the river three miles below

The concentrated fire of our guns on the city, has the effect of driving back the enemy from their batteries, and the work on the bridges commenced again

The troops are all under arms near the river, prepared to rush over as soon as the bridges are completed On an attempt being made to finish the bridges the rebel infantry again opened fire as also their artillery, which fired the bridge in several places—Burnside ordered the concentrated fire of every gun upon the city, under cover of which it is believed the bridges can be finished Our killed and wounded do not exceed thirty

PHILADELPHIA, Dec 11th—Nashville dispatches say Rebels under Johnson, Bragg Cheatham, Forrest and Morgan, advanced and appeared in front in great force A battle is expected near Harpeth twenty miles south west of Nashville Reinforcements are being hurried forward Every point will be strengthened The recent rebel victory at Hartsville seems to have emboldened them

CAIRO, Dec 11th—Gen Grant is encamped at Oxford, waiting for a supply train from Holly Springs Reports are contradictory as to whether the rebels re-occupy Grenada or not

ST LOUIS, Dec. 11—Gen Blunt telegraphs that the rebels have crossed the Arkansas river The enemy's loss was 2,000, among whom are five Colonels, our loss was 700

NEW YORK, Dec 11—The pirate Alabama was at Martinique Nov 17th The Federal gunboat San Jacinto arrived there the same forenoon, and went outside to wait for her but she escaped the next night

CITY.

The MORNING OREGONIAN has a larger SUBSCRIPTION LIST than any other Daily published in this City.

CONDITION OF THE STREETS — At no time in the last three years has the condition of the streets been worse than at present. The clay thrown from the new fire cisterns, has melted down under the rains, or has been levelled by shovels, and is now reduced to the consistency of mortar. The accumulation of mud all over town is immense. Unfortunately, there is no power in the City Charter to compel property holders to make street improvements, or pay for the removal of filth and mud, unless the City pays one half of the expense. This is in consequence of an amendment to the Charter, passed at the last session of the Legislature. Diligent inquiry has failed to find the author of this ingenious piece of legislation. The Charter was bad enough before, but now it is entirely useless for good, in the matter of improving and keeping in repair the streets of the City.

SMALL POX HOSPITAL. —At the last meeting of the City Council, the bills presented for attendance upon a small pox patient, and the expense attending his burial, appeared to have partially frightened the Council out of the notion of providing for indigent persons afflicted with this loathsome disease. It is true that the City Council cannot be too careful about the disbursements from the Treasury, but the pest house is a necessity. By it alone, the spread of small-pox may be prevented. The disease is now raging in the neighboring colonies of Vancouver Island and British Columbia, and we must be prepared to have many cases of it here.

NON-ARRIVAL. —The Dalles boat did not reach her berth until yesterday morning from her trip of the previous day. Last night, she was again detained, and had not arrived at the hour of going to press.

Lucien Heath has been appointed Clerk of the Supreme Court of Oregon.

"I've risen from the bar to the bench," said a lawyer on quitting the profession and taking up shoemaking.

An old printer, who has worked often in Boston and New York, named Abraham W. Sewell, has entered upon his ninetieth year. He is still vigorous. He has always been a remarkably temperate man and never addicted to those vices which have shortened the lives of so many of his craft. His eyesight is now as good as when he was but twenty years old, being able to set up the finest type without the aid of glasses.

An Incontrovertible Fact.—A medicine scientifically and skillfully compounded, which makes no undue pretensions, and is recommended by citizens of the highest respectability, deserves the patronage of the public. Such a medicine is DR. WM HALL'S BALSAM, a cure for CONSUMPTION in all its different stages.

General Agents for the Pacific Coast,
REDINGTON & CO,
416 and 418 Front street San Francisco.

Coughs.—The sudden changes of our climate are sources of PULMONARY, BRONCHIAL and ASTHMATIC AFFECTIONS. Experience having proved that simple remedies often act speedily and certainly when taken in the early stages of the disease recourse should at once be had to "Brown's Bronchial Troches," or Lozenges let the Cold, Cough, or Irritation of the Throat be ever so slight, as by this precaution a more serious attack may be effectually warded off. PUBLIC SPEAKERS and SINGERS will find them useful for clearing and strengthening the voice. See a[illegible] dec16daw3m

White's Patent Lever Trusses.—These instruments are recommended to the public as the best ever [illegible]. The principle is new and different from any other. The Pad works over a knuckle giving it a circular INWARD and UPWARD motion, thus being able to support the rupture with half the pressure required by other [illegible]. The pain consequent upon heavy pressure is wholly avoided.

These instruments will not rust, and are the lightest, most [illegible] and most cleanly of all others. They can be washed at pleasure. Many persons have been cured by them of ruptures of several years standing.

White's Fever and Ague Drops.—For the cure of AGUE, PANAMA FEVER, NEURALGIA and GENERAL DEBILITY.

This medicine has been used in private practice for many years with great success. Indeed, in no instance has it failed to effect a speedy cure, in Ague especially, one bottle having been found sufficient in most cases and in none are more than two bottles required.

A great number of testimonials could be given to verify these statements, but the proprietor prefers relying upon the merits of the medicine alone. A cure is guaranteed in nine cases out of ten.

Prepared only by ROBERT WHITE, Chemist and Druggist, Main street, Placerville and Broadway, Upper Placer [illegible]. For sale by all respectable Druggists throughout the State.

'Yes, indeed it is I But you what are you doing here?'

'I,' said the young woman 'I am waiting for my turn to pass on I am going to sell my greens and vegetables at the market'

At that moment the wagons began to move along, she of the straw hat applied the whip to her horse, told M de Talleyrand the name of the village where she was living requesting him earnestly to come and see her disappeared, and left him as if riveted on the spot by this strange apparition

Who was this young market woman? Madame la Comtesse de la Tour-du-pin (Mademoiselle de Dillon) the most elegant among the ladies of the court of Louis the XVIth king of France and whose moral and intellectual worth had shone with so dazzling a lustre in the society of her numerous friends and admirers At the time when the French nobility emigrated she was young, lively, endowed with the most remarkable talents, and like all the ladies who held a rank at the court, had only had time to attend to such duties as belonged to her highly fashionable and courtly life

Let any one fancy the sufferings and agony of that woman, born in the lap of wealth and who had breathed nothing but perfumes under the gilded ceilings of the royal palace of Versailles, when all at once she found herself surrounded with blood and massacres and saw every kind of danger besetting her young and beloved husband and her infant child

They succeeded in flying from France It was their good fortune to escape from the bloody land where Robespierre and his associates were busy at the work of death Alas! in those times of terror the poor children themselves abandoned with joy the parental roof, for no hiding place was secure against the vigilant eye of those monsters who thirsted for innocent blood

The fugitives landed in America and first went to Boston, where they found a retreat But what a change for the young, pretty, and fashionable lady, spoiled from infancy by loud and continual praises of her beauty and talents!

Mons de la Tour du Pin was extravagantly fond of his wife At the court of France he had seen her with the proud eye of a husband, the object of general admiration Indeed, her conduct had always been virtuous and exemplary, but now, in a foreign land, and among unsophisticated republicans (1793) what was the use of courtly refinement?

Happy as he was in seeing her escape from all the perils he had dreaded on her own account still he could not but deplore the future lot of the wife of his bosom However, with the prudent foresight of a good father and a kind husband, he nerved himself against despair, and exerted himself to render their condition less miserable than that of many emigrants who were starving when the little money they had brought over with them had been exhausted Not a word of English did he know; but his wife spoke it fluently and admirably well

They boarded at Mrs Muller's, a good natured, notable woman, who on every occasion evinced the greatest respect and admiration for her fair boarder, yet M de la Tour du Pin was in constant dread lest the conversation of that good, plain and well-meaning woman might be the cause of great ennui to his lady What a contrast with the society of such gentlemen as M de Norbonne, M de Talleyrand and the high minded and polished nobility of France! Whenever he was thinking of this transition, (particularly when absent from his wife, and tilling the garden of the cottage which they were going to inhabit) he felt such pangs and heart throbbings as to make him apprehensive on his return to Mrs Muller to meet the looks of his beloved wife, whom he expected to see bathed in tears [illegible] while the good hostess would give him a hearty shake of the hand, and repeat to him, "Happy husband! happy husband!"

At last came the day when the fugitive family left the boarding house of Mrs Muller to go and inhabit their little cottage when they were to be at last exempt from want, with an old servant, a negro, a kind of Jack o' all trades, viz, gardener, footman and cook The last function M de la Tour-du Pin dreaded most of all to see him undertake.

It was almost dinner time The poor emigrant went into his little garden to gather some fruit, and tarried as long as possible On his return home his wife was absent, looking for her he entered the kitchen, and saw a young country woman, who, with her back to the door, was kneading dough her arms of snowy whiteness were bare to the elbows. M de la Tour du-Pin started, the young woman turned round. It was his beloved wife, who had exchanged her muslins and silk for a country dress, not as for a fancy ball, but to play the part of a real farmer's wife At the sight of her husband her cheeks crimsoned, and she joined her hands in a supplicating manner 'Oh! my love' said she, "do not laugh at me I am as expert as Mrs Muller"

Too full of emotion to speak, he clasps her to his bosom, and kisses her fervently From his inquiries, he learns that when he thought her given up to despair, she had employed her time more usefully for their future happiness She had taken lessons from Mrs Muller and her servants—and after six months had become skillful in the culinary art, a thorough house keeper, discovering her angelic nature and admirable fortitude

'Dearest' continued she, 'if you knew how easy it is [illegible] in a moment, understand what would cost a country woman sometimes one or two years How we shall be happy—you will no longer be afraid of ennui for me, nor I of doubts about my abilities, of which I will give you many proofs,' said she, looking with a bewitching smile at him Come, come, you promised us a salad, and I am going to bake for to-morrow the oven is hot To day the bread of the town will do—but oh!—henceforth leave it to me'

From that moment Madame de la Tour du Pin kept her word she insisted on going herself to Boston to sell her vegetables and cream-cheeses It was on such an errand to town that M de Talleyrand met her The day after he went to pay her a visit, and found her in the poultry yard, surrounded by a host of fowls, hungry chicks and pigeons

She was all that she had promised to be Besides, her health had been so much benefitted, that she seemed less fatigued by the housework, than if she had attended the balls of the winter, Her beauty, which had been remarkable in the gorgeous palace of Versalles was dazzling in her cottage in the New World M de Talleyrand [illegible] her

Indeed [illegible] aneele [illegible] delight [illegible] heart [illegible] woman is always and everywhere [illegible]
